Our Book Table.

GRAPE CULTURIST, -- New Edition, Revised and Enlarged. By Andrew S. Fuller. Mr. Fuller's work met the general want of a plain and practical treatise on grape culture. As it was based upon established principles, it at once took rank as a standard work. Most of the treatises that have appeared since are nothing more than Fuller modified all systems of training become plain, and one may be followed as readily as another, Mr. Fuller gives this knowledge of the vine most clearly, and illustrates it so plainly that no one can fail to understand it, and for this reason his book has become remarkfor this reason his book has become remarkably popular, and has not been, nor is it likely to be superseded by any other work on the same subject. The teachings of the work are all from actual practice, and the illustrations are mainly from growing vines. To bring this work up to the times in respect to varieties, a considerable portion of the matter has been re-written. An additional list of varieties, including synony ms, has been given, and important additions has been given, and important additions have been made all through the volume. Garden culture is treated as well as that of the vineyard, and the book is equally adapted to the owner of a single vine, or the one who has thousands of vines. Well illustrated. Sent post-paid. Price, $1.50 Orange Judd & Co., 41 Park Row, New

MARIE ANTONETTE AND HER SON .- Marie Antoinette, the brilliant queen of Louis XVI. of France, and her son, "the lost Dauphin," form the subject of one of the most interest ing of the entire series of Miss Munlbach's historical novels. The same fire and energy appear in these pages which sparkled through "Joseph II." and "Berlin, and Sans-sult G. P. ROWELL & CO., New York. appear in these pages which sparkled Souci." The period of the narrative is one of the stormiest and most thrilling in French history, and with the faithful care by which the authoress prepares herself for the task the reader will perceive that no better idea of these terrible times can be gained from any other work thah this. In a recent letter she says: "I have written a book without havng studied beforehand the theatre of events. I must get acquainted with the land and people; must know the country, its inhabitants and cities exactly, in order that I may represent vividly and correctly." Indeed, all her works read so much like genuine history, that it is impossible to say where the real history ends and the romance begins, so completely is the resemblance maintained throughout. The character of Marie Autoinerte was a peculiar one, and it is presented here by a pen that has no superior in the delineation of woman. She united all the dignity of the queen with the naivele of the the girl, all the firmness and force of the woman with the light-heartedness of youth. She was frequently rebuked by the king for frivolity and yet she repulsed every familarity; she was kind toward the people, and yet she insisted upon the respect due to her birth and station; she was gentle and loving, yet had she been king instead of her husband, spirit of revolution is taking its rise; the speople flock about her carriage and besiege it. Then follows the conspitacy of Cardinal Rohan, her interview with Mirabeau, the idol of the people, who was so overcome by her Drngget and a thousand other articles too humer loads of the people, who was so overcome by ner tion, which will be sold cheap for cash. Give us a call, and examine for yourselves, at the becomes busy from morning until night; the queen, cast into prison, suffers the most cruel treatment, attempts to escape, and is cruel treatment, attempts to escape, and is taken to the scaffold. The young prince is treated with equal cruelty, but escapes. Such is a brief statement of a few of the leading events of this book which are clothed with all that richness of incidents and described with those rare powers that only the pen of a Scott or a Macaulay can equal.

New Development IN SEWING MA-CHINES-AWARDS AT THE GREAT EXPOSITION AT PARIS. 1867.—An interesting fact has just been brought to light respecting the FIRST premium awarded to Sewing Machine Companies. Two rival companies of the celebra-ted "Florence" have all along been claiming to have each received the First Medal, but singularly enough have neglected to in-form the public for what these medals were received. The following is the official report as published by the Home Company, as supposing the public could not understand the true tion of the report;

Howe Machine.

"Co-Operateur Elias Howe, Jr., promoteur de la machine a coudre.

Medalle d' daille d' or."

Wheeler & Wilson, pour la machine a boutonniere.

Medalle d' or." Official list of those who were made Knights of the Legion of Honor, as published in the Paris papers, reads thus: "Mons. Elias Howe, Jr., fabricant de machines a coudre, exposant;" which, translated into English, reads: "Mr. Ellis Howe, Jr., maker of sewing machines, exhibiting." From this it will be seen that the medal awarded to Wheeler & Wilson was for a "Buttonhole Machine," and not for the Sewing Machine.

The following is the report received by mail from the European Agent for the Flor-ence to the Home Company, and can be relied upon as correct:
Paris Exhibition, 1867.

GOLD MEDALS. Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine Company to make button holes. SILVER MEDALS. Florence Sewing Machine Company, Machine a Coudre

Weed Thomas BRONZE MEDALS. Simpson Machine a Coudre. Turner Newton Wilson Bertrem & Fanton do HONORABLE MENTION.
Pitt Brothers' Machine a Coudre.

Clemens' do for b Empire Machine a Coudre, Alexandra do xandra do Inventor and Designer, GOLD MEDAL. Elias Howe.

Thus giving the Florence the First Prize, a Silver Medal, over 82 competitors, it being placed at the head of the list, and fully establishing the high rank at the great Ex position it has for years maintained at home a rank it has got by actual merit, and no by such unfair means as shown above.-Oleveland Plain Dealer.

[18m3 s.s.r] "It was early in the spring of '52 that this com-pound was originated. A member of my family was afflicted with an irritation of the throat attended with pound was originated. A member of my family was afflicted with an irritation of the first attended with a disagreeable cough. I had for some months previous thought that a preparation having for its basis the instite bark of white pine might be so compounded as to be very useful in diseases of the throat unitings. Cotest the value of it in the case alluded to, I compounded a small quantity of the medicine that I had been planning, and gave it in beaspoonful dose. The result was exceedingly gratifying. Within two days the irritation of the throatmas removed, the cough subsided, and a speedy our was effected. Soon after this I sent to a lady in Londenderry. N. H., who had been suffering for some weeks from a had cough, occasioned by a sudden cold; and had raised mucus streaked with blood. She scowfrond relief and scatfor more. She took about ten ounces of it, sad got welf. J. B. Clarke, Key, editor of the Mantester Dails Mirror, mades tris lofthe same praparation in the case of a secure cold and was cared immediately. He was and highly pleased with thereasils, and so confident in success aften ing its raise, if placed before the public, that he family persuaded me to give it a name, and asadd abcount to benefit the suffering. In November, 1864, I first advertised it under the name of White Pine Gempound. In two years from that time those had been wholesled in Manchester alone intudeed delians worth, where it took he lead of all the cough remedies to the market, and it efficient is avery soothing and healing in its mature, in warming to the stomach, and pleasant withal to the taste, and it exceedingly cheap.

As a remedy for kidney complaints the White Pine

As a remedy for kidney complaints the White Pine Compound stands unrivaired. It was not originated for that purpose; but a person in using it for a cough was not only cured of the cough, but was also corred of a kidney difficulty of ten years' standing. Since that needounts discovery reasy throughes have used

The editor of the Manchester Daily and Weekly Mirror, in the leader of the Baily, thus writes of the Compound: "The White line Compound is adver-tised at much length in our columns, and we are happy to learn that the demand for it is increasing

For year.

"A Haptist clergyman, studying medicine to fixed remedies for his aliments, with a delicate, concumptive look, atanding with one foot upon the grave, he made the discovery which saved himself, and called out from others the atrongest testimonials pessible. We have known Dr. Foland for year, and never know a more conscientious, honest, upright man, and are glad to state that we believe whatever he says about his White Pine Compound." happy to learn that the demand for it is increasing beyond all previous superlations. It is the very lear medicine for coughs and colds we know of, and no family that has once used it will be without it. We speak from our own knowledge, it is sure to kills cold, and pleasant as it is sure. The greatest inventions come by accident, and it is singular that the White Place Compound, made for coughs and colds should prove to be the greatest remedy for kidney difficulties known. But so it is. We cannot doubt it, so many testimonials come to us from well know mem. Besides, the character of Dr. Pulsad is such that we know that he will not countenance what is wrong.
